NRI's wife, 26-year old software engineer duped Rs 40 lakh from 50 IT 50 software engineers

JANUARY 21, 2004

Sanyogita Reddy, from Kushaiguda in Andhra Pradesh, had married US green-card holding 37-year-old NRI D. Narayan Reddy after a brief romance over the telephone. They married during one of Navin's visits to his hometown of Hyderabad. She gave birth to their daughter in February last year. But their marriage quickly ran into difficulties and Sanyogita's husband left India.

Sanyogita Reddy

Their daughter Shreya needs a bone transplant but Sanyogita's blood type does not match with her's. She had said only Narayana Reddy could help. She hogged media headlines when she launched an Internet appeal for the return of her NRI husband for the treatment of their daughter who is suffering from leukaemia and cerebral palsy.

Sanyogita Reddy has been arrested by the Kushaiguda police on charges of cheating 50 software engineers She has allegedly cheated the software engineers to the tune of Rs 40 lakh on the false promise of getting them jobs in the United States. She had posed as the representative of California-based IT company CPU Tech and took money from several graduates. She even provided them with fake travelling documents.

Y Satish Varma said that she had taken him and four others to the US Consulate in Chennai. However, only one of the five was taken inside the consulate. None got their promised visas. The students said they had paid Sanyogita Rs 5.2 lakh for H-1B visas. Police have recovered 45 passports from her house.

Mrs Reddy told the police that she had tried to collect the money for getting bone marrow transplant done on her child abroad. Sanyogita's mother look after the baby.
